Steps can be taken to do anything to minimise delays - unnecessary delays - as Naib Tahsildars can be held responsible in acquiring lands for the extension of villages. I know of cases where even 5 years have elapsed before the matter comes up for disposal of.

Surely there shall be some prompt disposal of such matters concerning as they do the Comfort, Convenience of the villagers & internals

Note continued as directed.

13 Before acquisition proceedings under the Land Acquisition Regulation are started for the acquisition of a land, a lot of preliminary work has to be done, viz selection of the land for the purpose intended, examination of its suitability from sanitary and other points of view, consultation of the owners concerned regarding their willingness to part with the land, and consideration of the question by the Village Panchayat ~~[illegible]~~ concerned whether a decision regarding the proposed acquisition and the source for meeting the cost of acquisition

Notifications are prepared in the Taluk Office & sent upto Govt by the Dy.Coll for publication in the Gazette both in English & Kannada. After the publication of the notifications by the Govt, a month's time is allowed for the parties concerned to prefer objections if any to the acquisition & after hearing the objections the S.D.O ~~concerned~~ authorised for the purpose makes recommendation through the Dy.Coll for the publication of the final Declaration Govt. This stage of the Acqn proc in the District may take ~~from~~ at least two months

15 After the final Declaration Govts are published in the gazette, the Acqn Officer has to notify the parties, hear them regarding the value of the property to be acquired & pass his award. The time taken in this stage which is the final one — depends on the circumstances of each case

16 So far as the Govt is concerned, the stages at which the matter is dealt with are (1) when the preliminary notifns with the connected records are sent for publication & (2) when the final ~~notifn~~ Declaration Govts with the objections received are sent for orders of Govt sanctioning the acquisition & publishing the Declaration Govts. There will be no delay in the Govt in dealing with the matter ~~at~~ as this more or less is routine & no complications are generally involved.

17 As regards the delays that might occur in the subordinate Offices, the Revenue Coll has been requested in this Office letter no L 8429.

The above note which has been put up after personal discussion and under instructions from me explains the procedure in such cases and the stages where delay may be expected to occur. There is scope for delay in the Dt. ~~Offices~~ and lower offices, but practically none in the Secretariat. It will be seen that action has been taken to minimise as far as possible such delays in future.

With reference to your letter No Dy 3805/33 dt 25-5-34 re: acquisition of 97.8-98 in Bagur hamlet of Kudlapura village, Nanjangud Tk, required for village extension, I am directed to observe that the final declaration in respect of the acquisition of whole of the Survey Nos is not merely in respect of parts of them as is clear from the total extent of the Survey Nos to the extent declared for acquisition from the boundaries thereof and to state therefore that there is no need to issue any fresh declaration merely because of the inaccuracy
